- Thoughts from Rev. Lori

I share something that I just read by John Buehrens and Forest Church. It helped me ground myself on this pilgrimage I am making with you as I preach my way through June.

"We exist in a cathedral of the world. In the cathedral of the world there are windows without number, some long, forgotten, covered with many patinas of dust, others revered by millions, the most sacred of shrines. Each in its own way is beautiful. Some are abstract, others representational; some dark and meditative, others bright and dazzling. Each tells a story about the creation of the world, the meaning of history, the purpose of life, the nature of humankind, the mystery of death. The windows of the cathedral are where the light shines in. The cathedral is all of existence, the light shining in is the one source (unitarianism) and the many windows are all that refract light and expand the container of existence (universalism)."

This book and this passage in particular provided me with insight into the identity of Unitarian Universalism and into your identity here in Saco and Biddeford. I am excited to start my preaching journey at UUCSB enlightened by your many windows Rev. Lori (she/her)
- Tree of Hope

The Board of Trustees plans to decorate the Tree of Hope with your gifts through the cold Maine winter. Donations continue to be welcomed in the basket in the hall by the sanctuary door.
- Live Stream on Facebook

We are now live streaming our services on Facebook every Sunday at 10:00am
